Ariel Dorfman's "Death and the Maiden," features Vanessa Severo, Robert Gibby Brand, and Rusty Sneary under the direction of Cinnamon Schultz. A one-time political prisoner now living in isolation with her husband is convinced she recognizes the voice of a good Samaritan as that of the tormentor from her captivity. Can it truly be the same man? At once global and intimate, this bracing Olivier Award-winning play has become a contemporary classic that considers both the social and personal implications of abuse and retribution and remains relevant today. This gripping story of guilt, suspicion and revenge will be unforgettable.
